DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES. Mr. Tilden's Letter to the Committee of the Nationa Convention-Why the Work of Reform Can be Done Only by the Democratic Party Noble Words From Mr. Tilden.

New York, October 7 .- The following is the full text of the letter which Mr. Tilden had written in response to the resolutions of the national democratic convention, which were presented to him several weeks ago: "Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Commit tee: I thank you for the kind terms in which you have communicated the resolutions adopted by the late democratic national convention. I share tion of the federal government, which is our tion and preservation of the government itself, can only be achieved through the agency of the democratic party and by installing its representa tives in the chief magistracy of the United States

The note historical traditions of the democratic party; the principles in which it was educated and to which it has ever been in the main, faithful: its freedom from the corrupt influences which grow up in the prolonged possession of power, and the nature of the elements which constitute it-all contribute to qualify it for that mission. The opposite characterizes and conditions which attach to the republican party make it hopeless to expect that that party will be able to give a better government than the debasing system of fraud which, during its ascendancy, has infected official and political life in this country. The democratic That's had its origin in the effort of the more adsion of our government from the ideal contempla-ted by the people. Among its conspicuous founders were Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson Samuel Adams and John Hancock, of Massachu setts: George Clinton and Robert R. Livingston, o New York; George Wythe and James Madison, of Virginia. From the election of Mr. Jefferson as president in 1800, for sixty years the democratic ended the boundaries of the republic and laid the foundation of all our national greatness, while it preserved the limitations imposed by the constitution and maintained a simple and pure system of demostic administration. On the other hand the republican party has always been dominated by principles which favor legislation for the bene body of the people. It has become deeply tainted

What do you think about the October elections in West Virginia?"

"The republicans contemplated the same factices there that they are practicing in Ohio, and, relying on local troubles, supposed West Virginia was also for sale. While for the past three years we have not had more than 3,200 majority, you may rest assured that West Virginia will show by her vote that there is at least one October state which cannot be bought."

"From a patient inquiry and investigation do you consider the general political outlook favorable to the democratic party?"

"Yes, unquestionably I do. As I have before indicated, the democratic party isn't in the same condition pecuniarily as the republican, nor if it were would it appear as a bidder to purchase the vote of any state. As October elections occur in only two states the republicans are able to concentrate all their force, men and money with the hope of overturning the will of the people. "Can the democrats cope with the republicans in the expenditure of the vast sums of money of which you speak?"

"No. The democratic committee has been necessarily relying upon the patriotism of the people, and has no resources on which to draw except voluntary contributions, which are comparatively small, and yet sufficient to enable us to effect a good organization in Ohio. If we do win a victory there next week it will be the most brilliant as well as the most remarkable in the political annals of the country.

Macon, Ga. August 15th, 1880.

With great pleasure I certify to the efficacy of that truly excellent preparation—Brewer's Lung Restorer. It has indeed proven to be a sovereign remedy in my family. For many months my wife has suffered from weak lungs, and has experienced great difficulty in breathing, so much so that she could not sleep at all at night; she also lost her appetite, and, in fact, her condition was truly alarming. The Lung Restorer having been recommended by several friends. I resolved to get it and test its virtues, which I did, and with the most happy effect. She has taken but two bottles, and the result is wonderful. She now experiences no difficulty in breathing, her appetite is good, and she is rapidly regaining her strength and I am convinced its continued use will effect a permanent cure. I would, therefore, cheerfully recommend it to all who have weak lungs, as it cannot fail to be of great benefit to all who may give it a trial.

Yours truly,

The above testimonial was given in 1880. Hear what the same genterman says after an interval of four years:

Goven and Vanderbilt are for Blaine. These are two potent reasons why Cleveland will be elected.

New Jersey will make a great display at New Orleans. Georgia could throw it in the shade if a few thousand dollars were at the disposal of her commissioner.

THE United States has the ice fields while England has the Nile country as the scene of sacrifice for good men. The story of the murder of Colonel Stewart and his men adds another bloody chapter to the red story of British heroism in the tropics.

Next Thursday at Chester, Pa., the "Atlanta" is to be launched. She is one of the three iron clads which are to reinforce the Mecrepit navy of the United States. The Atlanta, the Chicago, and the Boston are, in a large degree, experiments and the behavior of the former will be critically watched next

As has been expected for some time the republicans are now claiming that the German vote will predominate largely in favor of Blaine. It is marvelous that an intelligent being should allow himself to believe anything that the republican press affirms between now and the time of the election The solid south will next be claimed for Four years ago Michigan, Iowa, Wiscon sin and New Hampshire were considered as certain republican as were Georgia and Texas democratic. At present they are not only arded as positively doubtful but the democrats have more than equal chances of carrying at least two of the number. There are many reasons why Blaine should not have been nominated.

THE Pennsylvania railroad management announces that it will stop only the passengers of the Baltimore and Ohio in Baltimore. and will still carry its freight. In a few weeks the Baltimore and Ohio can snap its fingers Cennsylvania giant, take its own paseast, and give the public the benefit of reduced rates. The attitude of the Pennsylvania failroad just on the eve of the breaking up of a monopoly it has so long enjoyed is somewhat amusing.

MINNIE PALMER, after reaping a good harvest of English shillings, wants $25,000 in greenbacks from Richard K. Fox, proprietor of the Police Gazette. This amount will soothe the feelings which Richard has ruffled by articles concerning Minnie, which, from time to time, have appeared in his naughty newspaper. It will be remembered that Judge Richard H. Clark once applied the Georgia law against indecent literature to Fox to the extent of a $1,000 fine for circulating his sheet in open defiance of the local authorities.

GOVERNOR TILDEN'S LETTER.

Governor Tilden's letter presented in another column, is another of those noble efforts of that greatest of living American statesmen, which have so endeared himito the people of the United States. Without exception there is no man in the country whose words are listened to with more confidence, nor the that arise here and there on account of the sincerity of whose advice will be more readlack of uniformity in the suffrage laws. ily respected by the whole people. The wisdom of that advice is the result of a life spent in honest devotion to democratic principles, the effect of which has been a record unparailed in its achievements for political reform, good government and an honest administration of the people's affairs. How marked is the difference between the words of this great champion of reform whose record is made with his people, and whose closing years are being spent in the quiet enjoyment which his active life has warranted, and the pratings of those political tricksters who are nursing in its dying have fer so long subsisted. The foremos mong these is its own nominee for president James G. Blaine, convicted by his own signare and condemned by his associates of cor ruption, venality and trickery in their most who no less than he has accomplished marked eforms in the government of a great state. In Cleveland and Hendricks is the embodyd fruits of good government, of which Mr.

len speaks in his letter, and which, in

AS TO OHIO. Nothing is clearer than the fact that Bro ther Blaine's whooping and hollering tour in the west has, to all intents and purposes, been a dismal failure. The enthusiasm manifested in the republican candidate, where it was not based in curiosity, and that American streak of good humor thrt is as ready to oppland the latest Jumbo that comes along, was purely formal. In most instances, especially in Ohio, tooters and shouters, the torch-bearers and the high steppers, were known to be in the service and pay of the republican committee

It may be taken for granted that the marching and counter-marching, the speech making and the hand-shaking, have had little influence on the course of the campaign. Neither Brother Blaine nor his strikers have dared to touch upon the real issues of the campaign, nor have they touched upon the issues that render the campaign interesting to the voters of Ohio. So far as we know, no honest or reasonable attempts have been made to conciliate the German voters, and though a good deal of fuss has been made and large sums of money spent, no real or substantial campaign work has been done. This opinion applies, of course, only to the apparent situation. It may be that while Brother Blaine has been displaying his boisterousness, his lieutenants were engaged in solid work. The result, however, has not manifested itself, and nothing is clearer than the fact that the republicans are in great doubt as to how Ohio will vote.

It may be supposed, too, that the denic crats are in doubt, but it should be borne, in mind that success in Ohio is not absolutely essential to democratic success in November It is otherwise with the republicans. If they are beaten in Ohio no contingency can pre vent their defeat in November, where as: if the democrats are defeated they still stand a good chance to carry New York and Indiana. Ohio is a republican state, and that fact is recognized in all calculations, but the strategy of the democrats has compelled the rejublicans to take all their available funds and fighting forces out of New York and Indiana and concentrate them in Ohio. This is something gained, and even I the Blainerskites should astonish themselves by carrying Ohio, they cannot con centrate their forces elsewhere in time to make them available. Ohio is not necessary to the democrats, but the campaign is in such good shape that we expect them to carry the state by a majority from two to four thous-

QUALIFICATIONS OF VOTERS, The qualifications of voting are as variou almost as the states themselves. Kentucky requires a voter, for example, to reside in the state two years, while Maine is satisfied with a residence of three months. Twenty-five states require one year, eight require six months, one requires four months, and two require three months. In most of the states registration is required by law, but in Arkansas it is prohibited as being a bar to suffrage. In nearly all the states convicts, pau pers and insane persons are not permitted to vote, and Florida adds to the usual list, betters on election and duellists. Michigan excludes duellists; Indiana, fraudulent voters and bribers: Missouri, United States soldiers: New York, election betters and bribers: Oregon, Chinamen : South Carolina, duellists and Inited States soldiers; Texas, United States soldiers; and Wisconsin, duellists, bribers and betters. Georgia, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Virginia exclude from the voting population all non-taxpayers. Ohio requires single men to reside twenty days in the voting precinct. Rhode Island excludes all but actual tax-paying citizens who possess property to the value of $134. This undemocratic provision reduces the are citizens of the United States; but it is held to be constitutional on the ground that a state can adopt a property qualification if it applies it impartially. Under such a ruling Rhode Island could raise the property qualification year by year until the few lords of the soil. Representative govern ment would then be a farce. All the laws of the different states are considered in harmony with the constitution of the United States, which declares that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the United States." The constitution of Kentucky keeps within the traces however only by regarding the worl "white" as a dead letter; for, otherwise, the limitation of right of suffrage would be denied to all but a the privileges or or immunities of citizens of the right of suffrage to "free white male citizens," would be in conflict with the provision directed especially against a color line. As a rule, male citizens 21 years of age, of sound mind and outside of bars, have little difficulty in voting, and it is to be hoped that in the coming shower of ballots they will be content to deposit one ballot apiece Voting early and often, and in districts not their own, is a greater evil than the troubles

FOOD AND CLOTHING IN HARD TIMES. At this date seven years ago, says the New York Journal of Commerce, "family flour sold at $7,25 to $8,75 per barrel, it can now be bought at $3.15 to $3.75, which is less than half the former price. Wheat, then selling at $1.55, and a little while before at over $2 a bushel, is now offered at 90 cents a bushel. Coffee, which then sold at 1914 cents, can now be had at 101/2 cents per pound. Tea which then brought 50, is now in market at 8 cents a pound. Brown sugar, then costing over 8 cents a pound, can now be bought at less than 5 cents a pound; white sugar, then 1012, now 614 cents; rice, then 7 cents, now 1/2 to 6 cents a pound. Less than eighteen months ago mess pork was $20, now to be had at $17; mess beef at $14, now $12; lard 2 cents, now 8; butter 31 cents, now 30, owing to the drouth at the east;) cheese, then 13 cents, now 1114 cents a pound. Cloths and blankets, and flannels, and cotton goods have declined far more, and are now at their lowest point they have ever reached in human history. A whole suit of clothes for a man can now be bought for two or three lays' wages, and the price of a days' washing will buy the washerwoman a new gown, with a pair of stockings thrown into the bargain." The absolute necessities of life have not been offered at so low prices in many years. Food and clothing are remarkably cheap: and it is fortunate that they are so, for the continued depression in business would otherwise lead to a great deal of suffering. rices now are, however, no one need

Those who work for wages must, however, in these days of idle machinery and deferred improvements take the wages, not of the trades unions, but of the law of demand and supply. In hard times like these there are generally more who want employment than the market will accept, and as a natural result the unemployed take lower wages. Fortunately, lower wages will not this winter mean less food on the table, less raiment by day or night, or even less fire on the hearth, because the necessaries of life an be had for correspondingly lower prices. The men who will not work for proffered wages will alone suffer. The men who fare the worse are not those who work for wages, but those who depend upon an irregular income from the public, uch as small manufacturers, merchants having a limited trade, professional men who are not thoroughly established, brokers and commission dealers, and others of like standing. Their incomes have been seriously diminished, and they do not like to curtail expenses to meet the loss. Such people are apt to have no surplus to draw upon, and their pride keeps them from bringing their style of living down to present income. This class of people will not be apt to gain much sympathy, no matter how keenly they may suffer, for they can at any time get into smooth water by confining their expenses more closely to the necessaries of life. The Journal talks to the rich, telling them that it is not best for them or others that they con fine their outlays to the barest necessaries o life because the money they pay out sup plies thousands with their daily bread. We give what it says in conclusion, as it is as applicable to one section as to another: We wish every family whose resource have so far shrunken that they begin to feel the pinching fingers, would look the facts squarely in the face, and ask themselves how much of the week's or month's expenses goes out for the mere necessaries of life. We do not now allude exclusively to horses and car riages, and costly dinners, and seats at the opera, and elegant dresses and connets and laces, and fine jewelry, but to much plainer things, for which the husband and father has not the cash in hand. The boys may not only give up their pocket money, but add a few dollars every week to the family income. If the girls cannot swell the common family purse by their earnings, they can make over their own dresses, wash their own clothes, and make their own beds, until the advent of better times. These are homely truths, but if they were taken to heart the burden in many a home would be greatly lightened, and the chasm that now opens before so many feet would be safely ridged, smoothing the way to a restored prosperity in the path beyond. The necesaries of life may be summed up in a moder ate catalogue if the will only gives its consent to the proper self-denial.'

MEASURED from the back of his neck to his eye laps, Ben Butler has a higher forehead than any of the candidates.

Our opinion is that after the returns are all in Brother Blaine's western trip will cost more than

If the democrats fail to carry Ohio, they will at least have the consolation of knowing that they scared the Blaine leaders out of their boots.

THE irony of fate is wonderfull. Many Amer ans believe that Benedict Arnold lived miserably after his treason, and that his descendants sank into obscurity. But the fact is that Benedict Ar nold lived to a good old age, enjoying a large for une and the rank of major weneral in the British rmy. His three sons rose to high positions in the ame service, one of them becoming a general representative of the Arnold family s the Rev. Edward Gladwin Arnold, rector and married the eldest daughter of Lord Chal mondelay. On the other hand, it is only a few weeks ago that the grandulece of Thomas Jefferso on pays; and after all, as some historian ha

"Surpose the democrats fail to carry Ohio will be enough if they carry New York and

BROTHER BLAINE, louting around in West Virginia, has the gall to call attention to what repub canism has done for the south. Too many de aials have made Brother Blaine mad. A cornre in comins is the latest thing. The hird annual session of the National Funera Directors' association, held in Chicago last week, attracted considerable attention. It seems that the coffin makers have a pool, and the underta-kers in the cities and towns have local pools. The nanufacturers corner the undertakers, making hem pay corner prices, and the undertakers cor ner the people. No manufacturer has a right to sell to an undertaker who is not in the pool, and a coffin must not be sold for a penny less than the corner price, nor must a back or two be thrown in by way of competition. The em-ployes of the coffin concerns are listed, and no offin maker can employ a man who has been in the service of a brother manufacturer unless he has a certificate from his last employer. Th pearer of the certificate must not be paid higher wages than he received before. This prevents the unufacturers from enticing the employes of heir brothers. This coffin corner is a matter of

We are under many obligations to our exchanges a various parts of the country for their kind reterences to our recent trade issue. As an evidence of what can be done in Atlanta on a pinch, the trade issue was worthy of notice perhaps, but we ropose to get out a bigger and a better paper, one of these odd-come-shorts.

THE Blaine hippodrome failed to take in lowaand yet there is said to be a good deal of trouble in Iowa. The democratic party in that state has grown to large preportions. GORHAM is keeping very quiet. Gorham is evilently afraid that he will hurt the democratic party if he talks too loudly in its favor; and Gor ham is right. Ir is said that old man Clapp, who has been trying to rope in the government employes, proposes to get rid of the civil service commission by the udicious use of a shotgun. In a recent sermon on evolution Mr. Beecher is reported as saying, "I don't care. I am not either a monkey or an ape, whatever my ancesters far back may have been." The Chicago Inter-Ocean takes the Brooklyn preacher sharply to task for such reckless telk. The truth is, a man with the proper pride of race does care about the status of his ancestors. It makes him more self-respecting and fills him with nobler ideals to believe that his first ancestor was created in the image of God, made a little lower than the angels. And, on the other hand, a man cannot help feeling that he has something of a brute's nature if his first parents were monkeys. It nerves a man for highe flights to think that he has a birthright of kinship with divinity. Nothing has a stronger tendency to keep a man toiling onward and upward than the thought that he has and owns a lineage that inks him with the highest, and that must not be dishonored, an inheritance that must not be granered or trampled in the dust. The "don't care" view will not do, and the evolution idea is not calculated to do us any good.

In-vesterday's issue, the city marshal had a long and interesting communication. We allude to the matter here for the reason that various of our exchanges are in the habit of referring to the marshal's communications as evidence that Atlanta is about to be sold out lock, stock and barrel. All this makes us laugh, and we want to laugh some

THERE are no poets working for Brother Blaine. Mr. M. Halstead has written a few casual campaign songs and credited them to Private Dalzell but nd this the literary class may be said to have given Brother Blaine the cold shoulder.

JOSEPH MULHATTON, of Louisville, has been offiially notified of his nomination for the presidency i the United States by the drummers national vention. Mr. Mulhatton gracefully accepts the instion in a letter of some length. He claims hat the uprising of the drummer fraternity indiates a new era when business men shall prevent refessional politicians and the lower classes from nehment and reform and the abolition of war exes, and opposes convict labor. During the cam ign Mr. Mulhatton will temporarily suspend the vention of snake stories and meteoric yarns, and. the time being, adopt Governor Cleveland's motto, "tell the truth."

JOAQUIN MILLER is a poet who has sense enough o write good prose when he sees the money up. He has accepted an engagement to spend severa months in the Mississippi valley writing up the sugar interest and the New Grleans expe

W. D. Luz, in defending Blaine, said that the tter only owned a share in the Hocking valley nines for two years. Brother Blaine, however nakes a fresh denial, and thus intimates that Lee a liar. We do not care to vouch for Lee's varac y, but if he has a spark of conscience he can ome nearer telling the truth than Brother Blaine. WE are very thankful to Brother Blaine's heuch men for reminding the country of what republi-anism has done for the south. Some of us have been inclined to forget the demoralization and uin that republican rule frought on the people of he south.

THE demand for stimulants is more general in is country than it has been in our past hist Hundreds of thousands of good temperance people who would die before they would use liquo re resorting to opium, chloral, bicarbonates and phosphates. When a man feels badly he takes ar matic spirits of ammonia, bicarbonate of soda or me new-fangled phosphate. Some men load themselves with quinine. Every day new nerve timulants are advertised, and people take them s freely as water. We are triding with our nerves and there is no excuse for it. All that we have to do when we find that we are living too fast is to put on the brakes and exercise a little common ense about matters of diet and rest.

Mr. BLAINE rises livid and shaky every morn ng and gulps down a big dose of quinine breakfast. It is believed by his friends that de

It seems that October is the only genuinely hot onth in the year.

A MONTREAL court has just disposed of a remarkable case. It seems that a young government clerk was called a "dude". He had the utterer of the offensive word arrested for using language cal culated to lead to a breach of the peace, and the court examined numerous witnesses in order to get at the real meaning of the word "dude." Some of the definitions were very amusing and kept the court in a roar. At last the court admitted its in-ability to decide what constituted a dude, but as it was not clearly proved that the insult was ered in the public street the case was ordered

THE REV. WAYLAND D. BALE, a Congregationdist paster, of McPherson, Kansas, preached ermon the other day in which he advocated the rection of a monument to Thomas Paine. He ook the position that Paine's errors were counterbalanced by his wisdom and patriotism, and that the American people could not ignore their inlebtedness to him without giving themselves up to a spirit of bigotry and ingratitude.

RECENTLY a white woman'in Memphis tried to to Nashville with a party of colored excursionists. The negroes did not want any white people on their train, and put this woman off at a waystation. The result is a suit against the railroad for $10,000 damages. This is certainly one of the most remarkable cases of the day

THE campaign liars have not spared Candidate St. John. It is boldly alleged that the temperance candidate for the presidency is a drinking man. It is said that a workman found a jug of whisky in St. John's cellar. Another story is that a riend smelled whisky in his breath upon his return from a speaking tour, and that St. John said he had taken a drink because he was fatigued. It is charged that he habitually drinks bitters taining whisky. These charges in all probability are false, but they serve in some measure the object of the campaign liars. Many prohibiionists are beginning to view their candidate with suspicion. Then the religious people are displeased because St. John travels on Sunday. It is impossible to please everybody.

THE cheapest thing to be had in the way of profitable traveling is a tour to Europe. Two months spent traveling in Europe costs about a third less than the same time spent in this country. An eight weeks tour in Europe can easily be made for $320, including the ocean passage. This a mount covers only the necessary expenses.

It was bad policy to bring Blaine and Logan into Obio at the same time. The attention paid Blaine has made Black Jack jealous. He is in a bad humor all the time, and the increasing gruffness of his manner is exciting remark. Logan is very sensitive, and cannot bear the idea of being eclipsed by Blaine. It is evident to everybody that a coolness now exists between the head and the tail of the republican presidential ticket. It ought to be some comfort, however, to Logan to read Blaine's speeches. The plumed knight has been delivering seven or eight speeches a day in Ohio, and he has completely spoken himself out. His speeches are about as stale, flat and unprofitable s anything could be.

Why Gould Supports Blaine,

Orrespondence Philadelphia Times.

It is for reasons explained that Jay Gould s for Blaine. In times past Gould has said that he was neither a republican nor a democrat and gave both sides a little money. That was before he had such interests at stake. His every interest now is in the direction of hoisting the price of Western Union stock, of which ne owns 300,000 shares; Missouri Pacific, of which he owns 120,000 shares or more; Union Pacific, of which he holds 30,000 shares or more; Manhattan Elevated, Kansas and Texas, Wabash, St. Louis and San Francisco and the various issues of bonds these schemes. Little cares Gould who is president, provided he gets a market for his shares and his patent mouse traps generally. Vanderbilt is in the same boat. These two richest men in America have seen their for-tunes shrink millions of dollars each since that fatal discharge of the Guiteau pistol. An intelligent writer in the Boston Herald showed intelligent writer in the Boston Herald showed not long ago that Gould is not worth within $24,000,000 what he was in 1881 and for every dollar lost by him through this great shrinkage in values Vanderbilt must have suffered dollar for dollar. It has been a shrinkage that has wiped out such millionairs as Villard and Garrison and Baldwin, o the Louisville and Nashville road, and George I Seney. Gould and Vanderbilt have hung on because of the magnitude of their wealth. Any considerable further shrinkage must cripple them. The apartment is worthy of notice for another reason. r. Collier is a native of Atlanta, born and raised re since the city grew from a village. We commend his course to the great number of young men in our state now looking for situations. In 1859 young Collier had just furshed his education in the high schools of the county, and his father, Judge lohn Collier, a gentleman of large wealth, watted to send him to Virginia to college to fursh his education. The young man had his heart set on being a first class mechanic, and he entered as an apprentice, preferring this to college. The war same on during his apprenticeship, and he went to the army. When he returned he finished his term as apprentice, and has been one of the leading mechanics in the city ever since. To day he occupies one of the most responsible positions in the city, and that he will fill it creditably he one who is acquainted with him can doubt. amend his course to the great number of young

OPENING EXERCISES.

The Southern Medical College Begins its Fall and Winter Session.

The opening exercises of the Southern Medical college occurred yesterday, and were well attended and much enjoyed. The students have been coming in pretty lively for several days, which he alluded to the rapid progress of the college and the high stand it has taken in the profession, the reputation of its diploma and the marks made by its graduates. He spoke of the very bright future of the college, and said its success was only a matter of time. He then introduced Dr. Wm. Perrin Nicholson, who made the regular annual address. He departed from the usual custom of making a scientific discourse, but made simply a practical address for the guidance of their opportunities, and to apply themselves closely. He urged them to make the best of their opportunities, and to apply themselves closely. He urged the first course men to be certain that their tastes were with the profession of medicine. He spoke of the increase made in hospital facilities, and stated that the college was now equipped so as to give them as ample clinical teaching as they could get in any school. That men could get as good a medical education at the Southern as at any college in the north or West. He urged them to improve their opportunities while in college, as they would never have them after graduation. He urged them to cultivate their powers of observation, especially in following the clinical lectures. He said the first centre men should devote themselves to, anatomy, physiology, chemistry and material medical. He told the second course men to devote themselves to the hospital studies. He then referred briefly to the principles, after which he announced that there would be a surgical clinic in the amplitheatre, which is an exceedingly handsome one. The doctor removed a very large and difficult tumor in the presence of the close of the class and a number of physicians. The session opens with the most favorable prospects. The facilities are very superior, and the standard will be put up higher and higher. Ten thousand dollars has been spent in Exing up the hospital advantages and everything is in such shape now that a man need not go further than Atlanta to secure a first-class medical education. Dr. Gaston, who succeeds

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Features of the Speculative Movements in

Grain and Produce. By telegraph to The Constitution. CHICAGO, October 7-There was a weak tone in the wheat and corn markets to-day. The visible supply of wheat showed an increase ot nearly 2,500,000 bushels during the week, and this, with continued liberal arrivals and a large number of selling orders from the ast, caused weakness, which was felt throughout the entire session, but more particularly toward the close and, on the afternoon November dropped to 78c but closed better at 78% @78%c, with December at 80c and January at 80%c.

Corn; was unsettled and weak, and closed 1/401/40 lower. In early trading the market was firm, November advancing to 55%c, but during the last half of the session there was free selling and prices shaded off rapidly. On the afternoon board a teadier feeling prevailed and a slight raily oc turred. News of a cold wave coming was the oving cause of free selling. The latest figures were 57e for October, 54e for November, 43c for all the year and 40%c for May.

Oats ruled firmer, closing at 26%c for October, 26% for November, 26% for all the year and 29% for May.

Fork was weaker, closing $16.50, October $13.50 for all the year and $12.52% for January. Lard advanced sharply for October, but the other options were firmer, ahe market closing at $7.55 or October and $7,30 for November.

relatives of his neice, Miss Laura Haygood, A STRANGE DEATH.

relatives of his neice, Miss Laura Haygood, delivered an address which melted many hearts. He declared that although loth to part, all the relatives responded: Amen, to God's call. Rev. Ir. Heidt, being requested by the chairman, read a communication of greeting and farewell from Dr. Boss, president of Weslevan female, college to the massonaries, after which he made some beautiful remarks. The chairman called upon Dr. Kendall to read a message from Mrs. Dr. Boring, president of the North Georgia Conference Womans' Missionary society, in which she bade each one leaving a prayerful and most affectionate adicu. He read a dispatch also from Trinity church, Meriwether county, of good wishes and "good-byes" to the missionaries, referring them to Meriwether county, of good wishes and "good-byes" to the missionaries, referring them to Rev. 3: 8 and Heb. xiii: 20, 21.

Miss Laura A. Haygood now being called upon, spoke words which burned their way into hundreds of hearts. Her inimitable sweetness of voice, incomparable diction, clear conception of the demands of the hour clear conception of the demands of the hour and a holy spiritual unction gave her access at once to every soul. She speke briefly of her connection with Trinity church since a girl of seven years of age, her maswerving love to the entire membership, her inexpres-sible sorrow at parting with them. Yet she felt that she owed it to her Savior to testify felt that she owed it to her Savior to testify that her heart was kept in perfect peace and thrilled with joy in being permitted to carry "good tidings of great joy" to God's little ones in China, who had lost the light of the true God and did not know how to find Him. Her closing words were taken from Paul's prayer for the church at Phillippi, and then she prayed for all those she was leaving behind. Her words were sublimely sweet and filled with spiritual grace past describing. No queen ever looked more royally, no saint ever spoke more lovingly, no martyr, except the Master, ever offered a sacrifice more costly.

Bride of heaven, fare thee well!

Eride of heaven, fare thee well!

The lateness of the hour admonished all that the services must soon close, when Mr. W. A. Hemphill, superintendent of Trinity Sunday-school, arose and said: "I want to say a few words expressive of the love and sympathy of Trinity church for every one of these missionaries. leve and sympathy of Trinity church for every one of these missionaries. Especially should I fed remiss if I failed to express our true love and unchanging interest in our own missionary, Miss Laura A. Haygood. We commemorate this evening a great in our own missionary, Miss Laura A. Hay-good. We commemorate this evening a great wedding—the unarringe of Miss Laura to the missionary work abroad. Shall we miss her? Ask the parching earth if it misses the refreshing showers. Shall we miss her? Ask hundreds of poor children and helpless women in our city whose tears she has dried and whose bodies she has clothed and ted. Shall we miss her? Ask the poor who have been led to her Savior and, made heirs of heaven. Shall we miss her? Ask the large Sunday school class. Shall we miss her? Ask her large Sunday school class. Shall we miss her? Ask every good work in church or city that needed wise counsel, strong faith and a heart overflowing with love to Jesus and the whole world! We bid you "good-bye," but will never forget you, and never cease to hold you as ours—one of us even to the "end of the world," and the end of life."

Many scores would have spoken, but the services were now brought to a close. The pastor requested that in kindness to Miss Laura's strength and her loved relatives that adieus be said then that she might have the few hours remaining with her family.

The leaders in song were now joined by the congregation in a discriptive song of triumph, picturing the entrance of God's people into everlasting joys, after life's labors and sacrifices are over. The whole congregation seemed swayed by the breath of song, and with tears and amens the benediction was pronounced. Congregation was dismissed, but determined not to leave.

nounced. Congregation was dismissed, but determined not to leave. All must take the missionaries by the hand first. Hundreds looked into Miss Laura's face and with a silent clasp of the hand, blindly wept their way out from the house of fied. Such a meeting, such a scene in all its phases will never be witnessed again. The wings of the Almighty God, the grace of His Son desus Christ and the melting breath of the Holy Spirit broaded over all.

At cleven o'clock last night the party left on the State road train. They were accompanied by Miss Haygood's brothers, Rev. A. G. Hay-good and Mr. William A. Haygood, who will ge as far as Nashville. The party will reach Nashville at noon to-day and will be the guests of the Tennessee conference, and will attend a missingary meeting to might in Nashin San Francisco, and the party will sail on the City of Pekin on the 18th. They will be thirty days on the sea. Mr. Bonnell says the party are greatly indebted to Mr. Fred Bush, of the Louisville and Nashville, for numerous

FELIX WATTS BETTER.

The Old Negro who was Knocked on the Head Promises to Live.

Felix Watts, the old negro man who was mysteriously assaulted late Tuesday night on Baker street, was much better last night, and the chances of his recovery are at present as-the chances of his recovery are at present astonishingly good.

Yesterday was quite a restless day with him until late in the afternoon, when he began to grow easy.
He became conscious early in the morning and conversed a little with those about his bed, but his physician soon put a stop to his talk. However, late in the evening he was allowed to tell how he received his wounds.
His statement was not a very full one, neither In substance, the ckl man stated that while he was going home he heard some one walking behind him but paid no attention to it until he reached the vacant lot near his home, when he turned his head so as to see who was behind him. Just as he turned he was struck a heavy blow over the head and in less than a second another blow followed. The last flow knocked him senseless and between the licks he did not recognize his assailant. The old man's pockets were not molested, and this fact precluded the theory of roboery. Patrolmen Christophine and of robbery. Patrolmen Christophine and Monorief in their investigation of the matter ascertained that Tom Stafford, who lives near old man Watts', had threatened the old man violence, and his arrest was consequently made. Yesterday the same patrolmen went deeper into the assault and ascertained facts strengthening their suspicion against Stafford, and at the same time implicating Stafford's wife, who was also arrected.

Felix Watts has quite a history. He is about 60 or 65 years of age, and has been working for Dr. Orme for years. His tall figure, his copper-colored skin and his long hair, which hangs in curls over his shoulders, are familiar to all who pass Dr. Orme's office. When a young man he was brought from South Carolina to Georgia by his master, who located near West Point. At that time the Creek Indians were on a reservation across the river from West Point, and were hostile to the settlers. Old Felix did not like slavery, and one quiet night took French leave of his master, and crossing the river got among the Indians. He was shrewd and sharp, and in course of time became a "medicine man." He remained with the indians, following the Creek tribe west, until after emancipation, when he came back to Georgia. Felix Watts has quite a history. He is

WHAT CORONER HILBURN WILL INVESTIGATE TO-DAY.

A Negro Woman Dies Under Peculiar Circumstance and Considerable Excitement Arises A Sig Separation May Grow Out of the Investi-gation-The Autopsy To Day,

Georgia Potts, an octoroon, well-known in Atlanta, died rather suddenly yesterday morning after a brief illness, and to-day Coroner Hilburn will hold an autopsy for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the woman's death was due to poison taken during her ill-

The woman's death occurred yesterday morning at 116 Ellis street. On Saturday last she was taken with a fever, and during the afternoon Dr. J. M. Crawford was called in He found her pulse running high and her skin hot and dry, and gave her a dose of quinine. In a short while the medicine began to assert itself and before the physician left the woman began to grov better. Later in the day the doctor called again and was gratified at finding his patient much improved and in high spirits, because of his success promised her that she would soon be well again. After giving another dose of medicine, Dr. Crawford was purposing to take his departure, when the woman called him to her bedside and

As he bent his head to hear what she had to say, whispered a sentence into his est. The story is one that is now too often told and as Dr. Crawford straightened himself up he knew that time would tell the same story the woman had told him for her secret was one that could not he heart. The that time would tell the same story the woman had told him for her secret was one that could not be kept. The woman then informed the doctor that she had been taking certain medicine. Her statement horrified the physician, who, at once realizing the woman's great danger if she continued to take it while sick with the fever, informed her the woman's great danger if she commend to take it while sick with the fever, informed her that she would have to resign herself into his hands completely, or that he would abandon her case. The woman promised implicit obcdience and the doctor took his departure, after ascertaining positively that the woman's statement about herself was true. Subsequent to the doctor's departure the woman became very despondent, and getting out of her bed swallowed a large dose of the very medicine she had promised not to take. The next morning when Dr. Crawford called to see his patient he found her decidedly worse, but not dreaming that she had disobeyed his orders, was at a less to understand the change. However, he soon ascertained that she was suffering from the effects of poison, and not knowing what the medicine was, she had spoken of, accused her ef having taken it.

SHE DENIED IT RITTERLY, and the the doctor did what he could to restore her to a healthier condition. During the day he called gain and found her much sicker than when he called first that morning. Feeling certain that she was poisoned, Dr. Crawford demanded the medicine, and finally the woman admitted having taken it and surrendered it to the doctor. That same, night he remained with her r. That same night he remained with her til late, and when he left asked her friends until late, and when he left asked her friends to have another physician present when he called the next morning.

Monday morning Dr. Crawford met Dr. Word at his patient's bedside. To Dr. Word he recounted everything that had transpired from the time of his first visit up to the present. Dr. Word gave it as his opinion that the woman was suffering from the effects of poison, and said that she could not live more than twenty-four hours longer. He remained awhile and then the physicians both left, telling those about the place that

THE WOMAN WOLLD LIKELY DIE.

Monday night Dr. Crawford was again sent for and when he responded he found the wo-for and when he responded he found the wohad no cause to change his opinion of the previous day, and, predicting the woman's death before one o'clock, took his departure. About 9 o'clock Dr.Crawford left too. He knew that the end was near, and that he could de the grave dug, and other arrangements for the About 2 o'clock in the afternoon Dr. Crawferd began thinking over the case. HE HAD THE MEDICINE IN HIS POCKET which he had taken from the woman, and drawing it out, began examining it. There were two sorts. One was a fuid and the other capsules. In the dapsules he thought he detected the odor of oil of savin, which is very poisonous when improperly used. This induced the doctor to do some deep studying wherein the idea that he had done wrong in granting that burial permit suggested itself to him. In the burial permit he assigned fever as the cause of the death, and in his hand he held a deadly poison of which the woman acknowledged she had taken. This would not tally, and in a hurry Dr. Crawford sent a note to City Sexton Bonnell revoking that burial certificate. The revocation of the burial certificate left the burial an impossibility, and the which he had taken from the woman, and icate left the burial an impossibility, and the corpse could not be moved.

Feeling—that he had done right in cancelling the certificate, the doctor decided that his duty was not complete until decided that his duty was not complete until he had acquainted Coroner Hilburn with the facts. College Lot Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday was a great day with the colored people. An immense throng of them went out to the corner of Houston street and the Boulevard to witness the laying of the cornerstone of the Morris Brown college, the new colored institution of learning. This college is being built by the three colored conferences of the A. M. E. church in Georgia. The exercises were quite interesting, and were opened with prayer by Rev. W. J. Gaines. There were a number of colored Masons present, St. James lodge, of Atlanta: Phonix lodge, of Macon; Eureka lodge, of Savannah, and delegations from the lodges of Columbus and Americus. Grand Master Alexander Harris, of Savannah, laid the cornerstone. Bishop Wm. F. Dickerson delivered the address, which was an appeal in behalf of education. After his address a collection was taken up, and several hundred dellars was realized. A number of articles were put into the cornerstone, since among other things a list of the names of the church officers, conference trustees, bishops, ct., state and federal officers and other dignitaries; copies of the daily papers, bibles and various otherarticles. The work on the college will be pushed as rapidly as possible. The lot has been paid for, the first story of the house completed and everything is moving along finely. About ten thousand dollars will be spent on the part of the structure which it is proposed to erect new. Elder W. J. Gaines has done and is doing a good work among the colored people. The college is named after Morris Brown, the third bishop of the Georgia colored conference.

Resolved, That Colonel Bacon and President Livingston take charge of the exhibit at New Orleans.
Resolved, That the secretary address the county societies asking them to contribute to the New Orleans exhibition.

Resolved, That the secretary address the county societies asking them to contribute to the New Orleans exhibition.

The following address has been issued:

To the people of Georgia: The undersigned have been appointed by the state agricultural society, to make an appeal to your state pride and generosity to raise two thousand dollars to enable them to have the state of Georgia represented in the great world's centennial exposition at New Orleans in Eccember next. Every other state in the union has a place and will be represented, except one. Major facon, the United States commissioner for Georgia, has made an appeal to your state society become to his relief and aid in having Georgia represented. A meeting of the executive committee was called this day, and after full discussion it was resolved to make an effort to save Georgia, the empire state of the south, the mortification of having no part in this, the world's exposition. The legislatures of other states made an ple appropriation, Georgia made none. It has been determined that if the people of Georgia will centribute $2,000, the state agricultural society will see, with what other money they can command, that Georgia will have a place with the other states in the exposition, and in order to raise that amount they have applaced the following gentlemen to solicit subscriptions, to wit. President L. F. Livingston, of Newton; George H. Jones, of Norcross; J. L. Werren, Savannah; P. W. Martin, Newman; Jerry Holls, Maccon; J. L. Fleming, of Augusta, and Pierce Horn, of Augusta.

Now you meniof Georgia, who have the means and feel any state price, do respond cheerfully and promptly to these gentlemen when they come to ask you for their contributions. A small amount from many would soon raise the amount, but let the able and liberal avail themselves of this opportunity of aiding in this great work. All of which is respectfully subm.t.ed.

He was informed that Stallings was willing to come back to Georgia. This information was an agreeable surprise to Patrolman Carlyle, and without delay he was ready to start back on they next train. made ready to start back on the next train.
Stallings was surrendered to him, and at a o'clock yesterdya afternoon the party boarded the train. Miss Almond entered no objection to the course matters had taken, and came along. Although a prisoner, she does not seen to know it, and on the trip gave her entir time and attention to the two children, so telgrams received from the patrolman state. Yesterday Mrs. Almond and Mrs. Stallings called at police headquarters and were offi-cially informed of the arrest of Stallings. They

APPEARED TO BE GREATLY GRATIFIED and when told that Stallings and Miss Almond and the two children would reach Atlanta at four o'clock this morning, expressed a deter-mination to remain in the city all night, so as to be at the passenger depot to greet them. It was generally rumored on the streets yester-day that Stallings had married Miss Almond in this city Saturday night before starting on his trip to Texas. It was said that the mar-riage ceremony was performed by Justice Tanner, but a call upon that gentleman se-cured a denial of the statement. A reportor for The Constitution in his investigatione of the rumor of the marriage visited the or-dinary's office, but no record of the license was

WHAT STALLINGS SAYS.
The Nashville American of the 6th instant

says:

The American reporter saw the party come into the stationhouse, and was immediately struck by the youthful beauty of Miss Almond, who is a plump little brunette about sixtean years old. She had dark brown hair and black eyes, and wore a close-fitting traveling suit of black camel's hair cloth.

While Stallings was waiting in the chief's private office an American reporter had an interview.

vate office an American reporter had an interview with him regarding the cause of his arrest. He as irst denied knowing any reason why he should be arrested. "Have you left your wife at home?" asked the reporter.

iness while I went prospecting in Texas," was the reply.

"Have you your tickets for Texas? If so, please let me see them?" was the next query.

"Mr. Stallings took two tickets from his portmonae, and handed one of them to the reporter. It was a ticket guaranteeing first-class passage from Chattanooga. Mr. Stallings admitted signifing the mame "James W. Stallings" upon this ticket. When the reporter asked to see the other ticket, he at first demurred, but finally gave it to the reporter It read: "Hattle Stallings," which name, by crossquestioning, the reporter got Mr. Stallings to admit he had signed upon it. Being asked whether he married Miss Almond in Chattanooga or Atlanta, Mr. Stallings said he had not. Upon this he became excited and said: "I would not think of marrying Hattie. She has lived in my family for four years, and I look upon her as my daughter."

Why, then, did the chief of police at Atlanta telegraph to have you and the lady arrested?" asked the reporter.

A CASE OF MOTHER-IN-LAW. "Oh, I suppose it is some of m; mother-in-law": oolishness," was the reply. "Just think how ridiculous such a thing is. 1 will tell you just all there is in it. I am a man with about $2,000 worth of property in the town of Constitution, near A Hanta, Ga. I have three houses and tots, a fancy grecery and confectionery store, in which I am doing a good business. For sometime past I have been thinking of moving to Texas, and have been talking to my wife and Hattie about it. My wife said she had to attend to the business, and that I had better go and take the children for their health. I never said anything to her about taking Hattie, but that poor girl seemed to be so bent on going that I did not have the heart to refuse her. So on Seturday night, when I was about to start for Texas, I drove by my mother-in-law's home and called Hattie out. She was ready to go, and I asked her if she had obtained Mrs. Almond's consent to go with me. She said she could not help that, for she was bent on going, as I ought to have there is in it. I am a man with about $2,000 sent to go with me. She said she could not help that, for she was bent on going, as I ought to have some one to help me take care of the children. We went to Atlania, but did not get married there, and took the train for Chattanoona. We did not go into the sleeping car, but rode in the ladies coach and put up at the Chattanoona We did not put up at the Chattanoona We did not go into the sleeping car, but rode in the ladies coach and put up at the Chattanoona We did not one to the children stayed in the room white I walked around the city to see and the children stayed in the cook and the children stayed in the city to set the sights. We next took the frait for Nashville, and I intended to go to Dalla Texas, via Memphis and Little Rock, as you so my tickets read that route. We arrived here at were arrested by the policeman with the aubulteard, and the other smart m that asked me so many questions. I will see I that asked me so many questions. I will see I heard, and the blue eyes, and the other smart man that asked me so many questions. I will see Mr. Valentino to morrow, of Valentino & Co. of whom I have purchased shoots for years, and if I am not released will get a lawyer to get me out on a writ of habeas corpius. I have only $145 in my possession, besides my tickets, and I hope you don't think me a big enough fool to elope with my wife's sister and my two children with so small amount of moneylas that. If I did authing like that I would like to have money enough to hide my tracks. My mother-in-law is at the bottom of it, and it she wants me to return home I will do so. I have not done anything to make me feel bad about going home."

have not done anything to make the test back-bout going home."

The reporter then went to Linck's hotel, but ound Miss Almoud had gene to her room, whither he scribe went and finally got her to open the icor, through which she put her head, but upon he first attempt at an interview she slammed the icor in the reporter's face. Our people will have the opportunity next Monday night and at the Monday matinee to see one of the best plays of the modern stage-"Lady Clare and the Iron Master"-for one season the great success of Wallack's theater. The public, the press and the profession have been of one accord that the piece is exceptionally good and very interesting. Miss Bertha Welby comes among us well prepared and at the head of a selectedcom pany, to present the "Lady Clare," and we have the testimony of all the exchanges on her route south to vouch for the excellent manner with which she interprets the title role, for the exceptional good support she receives from her com-pany and for the artistic rendition of the whole play. The Norfolk Ledgerhas the following appre-ciation:

the Nortolk Ledger has the following appreciation:

Miss Welby, as Lady Clare, showed herself to be thoroughly identified with the character, and possessing, as she does, great dramatic power, she invested it with a peculiar charm, which was not lessened in any way by the superb manner in which she dressed the part. Mr. John Hazlerigg, as the Iron Master, was also a decided success, and he made a splendid impression where he was hitherto unknown. The rest of the company was far above mediocrity, and lack of space alone prevents especial mention of several who richly merit a notice. The play was splendidly mounted, and was put beforethe audience in an unexceptionable manner. The company deserves the patronage of the public, and should receive it.
